GuitarZound – The android app for ambitious musicians

With version 1.8.1 the developers of GuitarZound have released an android app, which additionally allows easily sharing of set lists and tour dates.

Users can create their own layout of set lists and tour plans having lots of options available. Band logo, URL, background and commercial picture, font selection and many, many more settings generate very individual results. The set list/tour plan may be shared with common community apps or on GuitarZound's own internet app service. Browsing of other user's contributions inside the app is also possible.

Existing functions are improved. To better assist artists on stage, a special gig-mode has been introduced. Direct access to information on changes between the songs such as effect settings, lyrics and other values has been optimized. A special browsing mechanism makes life on stage an easy job.

The new version of GuitarZound persuades of its stability and the support to run on smart phones and tablets equally.

Excessive help on how to make best use out of GuitarZound is available under www.training.guitarzound.com.

The TRIAL version can be downloaded at <https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=eu.kwyn.guitarzound>. Depending on the musicians' ambitions, different licences (LITE and PRO) of GuitarZound can be purchased using in-app purchase of Google play. GuitarZound is also available in the Samsung app store in the versions TRIAL, LITE and PRO.
